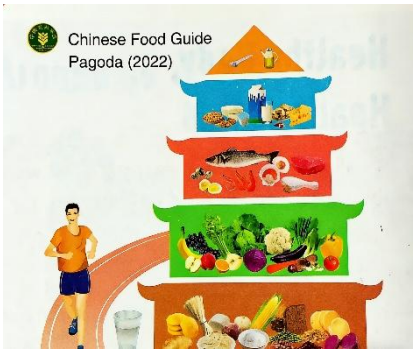
III.阅读理解（每题 2 分，共 10 分）

Food Myths

"Only fruit and vegetables are healthy foods."



The human body needs to eat many different types of food to stay healthy. The Chinese Food Guide Pagoda shows us what food we should eat. While（虽然） fruit and vegetables are healthy choices, it is just as important to eat foods from other food groups. Milk, for example, contains （含有）many nutrients（营养物质） and is good for our bones. We should include（包含） milk or dairy products among the things we eat.

"Eating fat makes you fat."

Eating fat is important for keeping us healthy. It gives us energy and helps our body to take in nutrients. Not all fat makes us gain weight. Some fat can even encourage our body to lose weight. It is necessary to include some, but not too much, fat in our food to help our body work well.

"It's OK to eat only what I like while I'm young."

When we are young, it might feel like we can just eat whatever we want! For example, sweets and fried foods taste delicious. But we cannot eat those foods alone. Eating balanced meals is very important when we are young. It helps our body and brain to grow well. Bad eating habits may stay with us our whole life, so it is best to develop good eating habits early!

( )31.What does Paragraph 1 mainly talk about?

A. We need to eat many types of food.

B. We should only eat fruit and vegetables.

C. Milk or dairy products are important to our health.

D. Having more fruit and vegetables is good for our bones.

( )32. What does the writer say about eating fat?

A. Eating fat makes us fat. B. All fat can help our body work well.

C. Our body takes in fat and other nutrients easily. D. Fat is necessary for our health, but not too much.

( )33. Why is it important for the young to learn healthy eating habits?

A. They grow and learn fast. B. They like eating tasty food.

C. Good eating habits serve them well. D. They always eat certain kinds of food.

(　　)34. How does the writer explain（解释） "food myths"?

A. By giving facts（事实） and examples.　　B. By listing healthy and unhealthy foods.

C. By using many numbers.　　D. By sharing stories of his/her own eating habits.

(　　)35. What is the purpose(目的) of this article?

A. To tell stories about food myths.　　B. To ask people not to eat fat and sweet foods.

C. To encourage people to have healthy and balanced meals.

D. To show the food types in the Chinese Food Guide Pagoda.
